- v.7 while Joshua & his generation were alive, the people of Israel were faithful to God as they have seen the miracles of God.
- v.8 Joshua died at the age of 110.
- v.10 The Joshua's generation lived on for a while, but they too died eventually.
- v. 10 The next generation for some reason did not know God or what the Lord has done for Israel.
- v.11-12 This new generation did evil & turned to other gods.

Each generation will PASS away

And there arose another generation after them, who did not know the Lord or the work which He had done for Israel.

Hokkien mee is a dish commonly found in Southeast Asian cuisine, particularly in Singapore and Malaysia. The dish typically consists of egg noodles and rice noodles, stir-fried with pork, shrimp, squid, and vegetables in a savory and flavorful sauce.

While hokkien mee can be delicious and enjoyable to eat, it is generally considered to be high in calories and sodium, especially if it is prepared with a lot of oil and dark soy sauce. Consuming high amounts of calories and sodium can increase the risk of developing health problems such as high blood pressure, heart disease, and stroke.

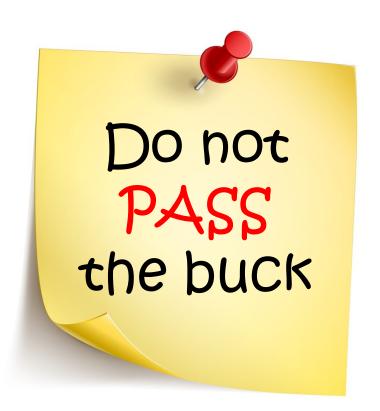

However, like many foods, hokkien mee can be enjoyed as part of a balanced diet in moderation. To make the dish healthier, consider cooking it with less oil and sodium or incorporating more vegetables to increase its nutritional content. It's also important to be mindful of portion sizes and balance it with other healthier food choices.

In summary, while hokkien mee may not be the healthiest food choice, it can be consumed in moderation and balanced with other nutritious foods to make a well-rounded and satisfying meal.
